

The stories in the Great Leaps Digital Program have been carefully sorted by readability (grade level) by the Campbell Readability Formula (CRF) and that information is found below for your own use so you can get a better picture of your student's progress.

Please exercise great caution if you choose to share this information with your students! It can be emotionally devastating to a student to be told just how far below grade level they are reading at so we strongly recommend either keeping this information for your own use or using it to say things like "you have improved six months in only two months time!" rather than telling students the exact level stories they are on.
